TORONTO TIDINGS.

Miss Helen A. Middleton, of Niagara Falls, Ont., spent the week-end of October 15th at "Mora Glen," and with Mr. and Mrs. N. A. McGillivray, on Waverleigh Boulevard.

Mrs. Andrew S. Waggoner, president of the Ontario Association of the Deaf, came to the city on October 14th, to confer with others on convention matters. Next day her husband came down to take in our entertainment and both returned home Sunday evening. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Watt, while here.

Mr. Paul Tuttle, of Niagara Falls, Ont., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mackay, while here for the week-end of October 15th.

Smiling as ever, the Misses Laura and Catherine Tudhope, of Orillia, turned up for the "fun" on October 15th, and remained for a couple of days with their sister, Mrs. Gordon Eaton, on Roxboro Street.

Mr. Edward Wilgrass, of Huntsville, who now works here, was an interested visitor at our entertainment on October 15th, with his cousin, Miss Helen A. Middleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Breen came down from Hamilton, for our social on October 15th, and afterwards visited relatives here.

Mr. Nicholas Gura came up from Oshawa on October 15th, to see the "merry makers" and visit friends here over that week end.

It was a pleasure to have Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hallett with us over the week-end of October 15th. They motored up from Niagara Falls, N. Y., to help in our entertainment and were the guests of Mrs. N. Moore. We hope to see them often.

Miss Jennie Campbell, of St. John's Que., arrived here on October 14th, and may stay with Mr. and Mrs. N. A. McGillivray for the winter.

Mr. John Richards, of Hamilton, was in our midst during the week-end of October 15th, and took in our social. He is a graduate of the Belfast, Ireland, school for the deaf and came over the herring pond last May, settling in the "Ambitious City," where he is now prospering.

Mrs. W. J. Baird, of Beeton, came down for the "Autumn treat," on October 15th, returning home the following evening.

We had a very impressive Thanksgiving service at church on October 16th, and the edifice was very comfortably filled. The platform was very tastefully decorated with harvest offerings and the eye could behold an abundant evidence of God's providence. Mrs. J. R. Byrne first spoke on God's unfaltering hand in providing His children with the necessities of life. Well known outside talent furnished the hymn reciting, Mrs. Andrew S. Waggoner, of Hamilton, delighted all before the sermon with the rendition of "Lead Kindly Light," and Miss Ada James, of Belleville, closed the service with the beautiful solo, "Saviour, Breathe an Evening Message."

Miss Ella Johnson, of Port Sydney, Muskoka, a graduate from Belleville, a few years ago, is just now in the city, visiting her sister, and in the meantime is trying to secure a position here.

The Zimmermann and Jones families, of Palgrave, came down for our social and Thanksgiving service.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at "Mora Glen," on the evening of October 18th, where more than a score of her old schoolmates foregathered to do honor to Mrs. Jontie Henderson, of Sarnia, and a very pleasant time was spent, Messrs. J. T. Shilton, B.A., Ernest Hackbush, our latest Hamilton acquisition, and Charles A. Elliott were the chief fun makers. Mrs. J. T. Shilton won the prize in the bird and fish game. The usual refreshments were served. Besides honoring our popular Sarnia friend, the occasion also marked the natal day of Mrs. H. W. Roberts, who received many lovely presents and it was also the twenty-second anniversary of Mr. H. W. Roberts' entry into the postal service of Canada.

On his way to the International plowing match at Langstaff, ten miles north of here, on October 13th, Mr. W. W. Scott noticed a big car passing with a few of his old friends. Billy yelled, "Hello!" whereupon they stopped and gave him a lift to the scene. It was the largest gathering of its kind Billy has yet seen.

A large bunch of the deaf of Rochester, N. Y., came over for our big entertainment on October 15th. Those noticed were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Todd and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whyland, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Maxson, Mr. Clayton McLaughlin, Mr. Floyd Devitt, Mr. Arthur North, Mr. Gates Lansing and Mr. Lyle Klock. They saw the notice in the JOURNAL and struck off for Toronto. We were delighted with the company of all.

After the concert on October 15th, Mrs. Andrew S. Waggoner, of Hamilton, as president, urged all to earnestly co-operate in making the next convention of the O. A. D. a record breaker. She also said that the Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf project would come up for serious consideration at the coming next summer.

Mr. John T. Shilton, B.A., is now feeling the touch of prosperity entering his independent printing office with increasing pace, and the writer, on passing the place, better known as the Imperial Press, could not but wonder at the volume of work our friend had to battle with. Johnny's honest and square dealing brings in results manifold, and no wonder he and Charlie Ford are working like Trojans early and late.

Mr. J. R. Byrne continued his lecture at our Epworth League on October 19th, on the correct meanings of "Justification" and "Sanctification."

The following subscribers sent the writer their subscriptions to be sent in this week with his weekly budget, which is steadily increasing the JOURNAL's circulation. Andrew S. Waggoner, of Hamilton, Vernon Woodward, ward of St. Williams, and James McPhee, of Montreal.

OUR AUTUMN ENTERTAINMENT.

As foretold in the JOURNAL ahead, the Autumn entertainment under the auspices of our Ladies' Aid came off on October 15th, in the Nasmith-Brigden Hall of our church, and was a grand success. Here are the facts in nut-shell detail:

The hall was crowded and standing room was at a premium.

The performers did their part very well notwithstanding the short time for practice.

Mrs. N. Moore was heartily thanked for the success of this "Show."

The net proceeds from all sources amounted to nearly $90 which goes towards buying coal for our church.

For the convenience of the large number of hearing friends present, Mrs. J. T. Shilton followed the songs orally and was given great credit.

The various acts and the names of the participants are hereby given in short.

Miss Doris Taylor acted as pianist and made a hit.

Act I.—"Onward, Christian Soldiers," by Mesdames H. Whealey, W. R. Watt, Arthur Walker, F. E. Doyle and Miss E. Elliott and Messrs. Charles Elliott, W. R. Watt, C. McLaughlin and Arthur Walker.

Act II.—"Wooden Soldiers" by the Mesdames Florence Harris, Francis Gaynor, Elsie Higgins, Gladys Hardy, Norma Smith and Erna Sole.

Act III.—"The Pile Thief" by Miss Frederica Decker, as the four-year-old lassie, Cecil Terrill as the thief, Mrs. A. Walker as the swain, and Sam Goodall as the burly cop.

Act IV.—"Home Life," by Mrs. S. Baskerville, Miss B. Wilson as the happy maiden, and Fred Terrill as the old vagabond, was worth a good laugh.

Act V.—"Charge of the Light Brigade" by Miss B. Wilson and B. Baskerville as flag bearers, and Fred Terrill dressed in the full regalia of a British Tommy. Mr. Terrill's rendition of this famous battle song was the best and most hair-raising treat of the evening.

Act VI.—"The Song of the Shirt" by Mesdames Whealey, Watt, Doyle, Bartley and Bell and Miss Pearl Herman.

Act VII.—"Dramatic Song" by Mrs. William T. Hallett, of Niagara Falls, N. Y. It was perfectly rendered and received an ovation.

Act VIII.—"Song of the Mystic" by Mrs. F. E. Harris. It was well rendered and received.

Act IX.—"Caw, Caw, Caw," by Misses A. Thomson, Alma Brown, Caroline Buchan and Mrs. Chas. Wilson. This was something beyond the ordinary.

Act X.—"Screenland of Youth" In this well produced chapter, Mr. Paul Tuttle, of Niagara Falls, Ont., with his machine threw on the screen many pictures of those present as they appeared in their youth. Two of the best of these were those of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Middleton, of Hornby Mills and Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Waggoner, of Hamilton.

Act XI.—Indian Club Swinging by Mesdames F. E. Harris, F. E. Doyle, and A. Walker and Miss Evelyn Hazlett.

12th and last Act. "God Save Our King," in which all joined in unison in rendering the National Anthem. The evening's "fun" was brought to a close on to 11:30 P.M.

ENTWINED FOR LIFE

Years ago, there came out from Bonnie Scotland, a young and clever chap, determined to seek his fortune on this side of the broad Atlantic Ocean. He had all the qualifications to make the grade, including a good education which he had acquired at the Edinburgh School for the Deaf. Arriving in this country of promise, he located in Toronto, and finding it suited his tastes he decided to live there for good. As time wore on he found he was still lacking the best thing that goes towards making life and home the way it should be. This was a life partner, and a year ago, he went to the country angling for one after coming his own city in vain, and it was not long before his wooing entreaties found favor. Soon he landed his catch and on the 17th of October last, the climax came when this young Lochinvar, Mr. Colin Maxwell McLean, led to the altar Miss Elsie Christina McDougall, the intelligent daughter of Mrs. Janet McDougall of South Indian, the Rev. Mr. Cameron, of Ottawa, tying the nuptial knot that binds. The happy event took place at the home of the bride's mother, a South Indian, in the presence of a good number of guests. The bride, who looked charming in a monkey-skin color dress, trimmed with rhinestones, and carrying a bouquet of sweetheart roses and sweet peas, was attended by Miss Rosa Brigham, of Ottawa, while the groom was ably supported by Mr. Peter H. McDougall, the deaf brother of the bride. A sumptuous wedding feast was served, but at time of writing the wedding trip was not announced. The young bride is a graduate of the Belleville School. The groom is a son of Mrs. Sarah McLean, of Wroxeter Avenue, Toronto, and the happy couple will reside in Toronto, where our best wishes follow for a long sunny married life. On Saturday night, October 16th, the deaf of Ottawa, turned out in force and presented the happy couple with a handsome silver dish, at a surprise party tendered in their honor.

ST. WILLIAMS.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Woodward were up in Walsh, on October 16th, visiting with Miss Florence Davis, who is working for Mrs. Gibbs for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Smalldon and daughter, of St. Thomas, motored down to this burg one Sunday lately and gave Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Woodward a surprise visit.

Our old friends Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Harris and daughter, of Toronto, and Mr. Harris' mother, Mrs. George Axford, of Simcoe, were guests of the Woodwards one Sunday not long ago.

LONDON LEAVES

Remember Mr. Fred Terrill, of Toronto, will be up to lead the service here on November 27th and all should turn out and "hear" him.

Mr. Thomas Chantler, of Woodstock, bobbed up in our midst over the week-end of October 15th, and was the guest of Mr. George Moore. Tommy has for years and is still steadily employed by the Canadian Furniture Company in the "Industrial City."

Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher motored out to Hensell, on October 15th, and spent a pleasant time with Mr. and Mrs. David Alexander and family, returning next day.

Mrs. Agnes Jolly was in this city, visiting friends for a few days, returning to her home in St. Thomas on October 17th.

HERBERT W. ROBERTS.

SEATTLE

Mrs. Hanson, who came back from California by stage, has a good deal to say about her three weeks' visit there. The entrance into the famous and beautiful Golden Gate gave her a thrill as she thought of the many ships bringing crowds of seekers after fortune in '49 and the following years. Instead of the mushroom little town of those days, she saw the gigantic city of San Francisco spreading over the shores of the bay, its towering buildings gleaming white in the sunshine.

To a person used to a grass country, and associating the idea of beauty in scenery with greenness, the charm of the California hills is a novel one. They rise on all sides around Oakland and Berkeley, and lie smiling in the sun, and seem to give a friendly welcome to the visitor. Their soft colors of brown, yellow, blue and lavender, blend into one another, and the green is furnished by trees, clumps and groves of which rise here and there. The oak trees are magnificent, and grow luxuriantly along the coast far south as Santa Barbara. Mrs. Hanson saw a good many beautiful trees, such as olive, cypress, pepper, orange, and lemon, which she had never seen before. In the middle of a street in Berkeley near the University of California, a magnificent live oak grew and stretched out its wide-spreading boughs. It had been unthinkable to cut it down, so the street was paved all around it. At the school for the deaf at Berkeley, Mrs. Hanson was shown around by Miss Edna Vandegrift, matron of the older girls at Durham Hall.

The deaf people of Berkeley are a cultured group, and are very pleasantly and fortunately situated. They are a hospitable people, and among the homes that Mrs. Hanson visited are those of Mr. and Mrs. Howson, Mr. and Mrs. Rundt Mr. and Mrs. Lester, Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs, and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Campbell. She also met Mr. Elmer Davidson, Mrs. Brownrigg, Miss Mabel Luddy, Mr. D'Estrella, and last but not least Mr. Douglas Tilden. The latter is living in a small studio of his own, which he largely built with his own hands, and is highly regarded by his deaf neighbors. He is looking very well, though older than when he visited Seattle many years ago. In San Francisco Mrs. Struck showed Mrs. Hanson a great deal of the interesting city. From the top of Twin Peaks, she had an unequalled view of it, sprawling out for miles in every direction, and she was driven through the Civic Center, past the enormous city and county hospital, down to the city's fishing fleet, and past the Presidio and many of the handsome private residences. At a reception given at the home of Mrs. Struck's mother on September 24th, Mrs. Hanson met Miss Delight Rice and her father, Miss Chapin, a sister of Mrs. Sylvia Balis, Miss Genevieve Suik, Mr. and Mrs. Tilley, Mr. and Mrs. Malindola, nearly all of the Berkeley deaf, and many others. Mrs. Struck, the wife of Adolph N., who was in Seattle for some months of last year, is a teacher at the Berkeley School. She has a baby daughter, Shirley Ruth, who is the image of its dad.

The former Washington people now in California whom Mrs. Hanson met, are Mr. and Mrs. Emory Vinson, and Mr. George Sheastley, Emory is a printer, and his wife is a teacher at the Berkeley School. Mr. Sheastley is a floor-waxer in San Francisco, and works at night.

Mrs. Bertha Wilson, who went down to California on the same boat with Mrs. Hanson, has found employment as an egg packer in San Francisco. She lives in Oakland, and goes back and forth on the ferry.

Mrs. Hanson with her daughter, and son-in-law spent part of her last Sunday in California visiting the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tilley, two miles beyond Tiburon. It was quite a wild place when Mrs. Tilley bought it years ago, and she has made it a fairyland. There are white cement walks and low walls and seats everywhere, a pergola covered with a beautiful matress vine, a garden and orchard which produce more vegetables and fruit than the family can consume, and two houses, one of them the bungalow in which the Tilleys lived before they built the larger one. Marion remarked that the whole place was like a summer home in a movie picture.

The Spokane Review Sept. 11st, contains an account of the wedding of Mrs. Alice M. Barney to Mr. Mark Sullivan, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O'Leary. Mrs. Sullivan is the mother of Mrs. Erne Chambers and Norman Barney. Her husband lost his hearing quite late in life. The Seattle friends of the bride extend congratulations.

Miss Henrietta Gould is back from her long summer visit among relatives and friends in Ohio. She had a happy summer.

There were two surprise parties recently. The first one, on Oct. 2, was on Dr. and Mrs. Hanson and the second one, on Oct. 15, was on Mrs. Claire Reeves. Both parties were very enjoyable and well attended by friends.

Mrs. William O'Neil is making herself so well liked that we hate the thought of her going away. She is staying with her sister here, and has such a command of signs and is such jolly company that she is a general favorite. It would be a large undertaking to try and enumerate the various entertainments at which she has been a guest.

Mr. Myron J. Clark is back from Mabton looking very well. While away he spent a great deal of time fishing and had fine luck. On arriving in Seattle he again bought the Sandwich Shop, which he had owned twice before and sold. His son is running it, and Izora also works there in the afternoons after school.

Mr. Clark is living in an apartment on Bellevue Ave.

Buster Divine is now a freshman at the University of Washington, and has pledged Lambda Chi Alpha, the fraternity to which Ellis MacDonald belongs.

Alfred Goetz and his aunt, Miss Emma Goetz, took a trip to California by stage just after the adjournment of the State Convention last June, and they went as far South as San Diego. They visited in Oakland with relatives for a few days, and while in Golden Gate Park at San Francisco, they met Eva Hogan, and her sister of Portland, who were also visiting in California. They went to see George Sheastley, and surprised him very much. At Culver City, they saw the homes of many famous Screen Stars, and they crossed the border into Tia Juana, Mexico. Alfred has many pictures of places he has seen. He is now at home again, and studying English two afternoons a week with Mrs. Hanson, till school opens at Vancouver, on the completion of the main building. He is also working part time at the box factory in Tacoma.

A pleasant letter from Miss Alice Wilberg reports her as having a good position in Portland, which she will hold till the re-opening of the Vancouver School. We did not know that Alice was a poet, and were agreeably surprised by the following verses in her letter:

Dunno where you are tonite.
Sometimes, though, it don't seem right
That you're not by me.

Dunno what you're thinkin' of,
But I'm sure, by gee!
If you've gone an' fell in love,
Wish it wuz with me!

Dunno if you're smilin' now,
Dunno if you're blue,
Dunno nothin' anyhow
But I think o' you.

Pow'ful funny it would be,
Kinda comly too,
Just to know you think o' me
Like I think o' you.

The American Legion Hall on 10th Avenue, North East and East 50th Street, has again been reserved for the Frat party this year on New Year's Eve. This is the same hall in which the party was held last year. We believe the selection will prove a popular one. The Committee in charge of the party is headed by John Bodley.

On October 2d, Miss Frances Pralmer was married to Harold Witherby, a nephew of Mrs. Emily Eaton. The wedding was a very pretty one and took place at the home of the bride's parents at Aberdeen, Wash. Only relatives of the bride and groom were present, and after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. The young couple then started for a honeymoon trip to San Francisco. Mr. Witherby is on the staff of the Aberdeen Daily News, and his bride was also employed on the same paper. They received a beautiful set of table Silver and also a week's extra salary as a wedding gift from their employer.

Mrs. W. G. Cassels had just returned from this wedding in Aberdeen when she met with quite a serious accident. She was crossing the street at Second and Stewart in front of a street car. The motor-man failed to see her and started his car. He tried to stop it, when he saw her, but the fender struck her and threw her down. She was taken into the Washington Annex Hotel, and she stayed the night there suffering from what she thought was a sprained knee. But an examination the next morning showed that her knee was broken. She was taken to Columbus Hospital, and there it was discovered the bone below the knee was cracked. Since entering the hospital she has been progressing nicely, and will be on crutches in a few weeks. All the deaf people who know Mrs. Cassels will be very sorry for the accident that befell this estimable lady. She has long ago won their regard for her goodness to her deaf and nearly blind sister, Mrs. Eaton.

Robert Bronson was baptized at St. Mark's Church the afternoon of October 16th, during the service conducted by Dr. Hanson.

DETROIT.

Mrs. Nellie Hall of Lansing stopped over at Port Huron on her way to Canada to see Mrs. A. Kresin.

Mr. Leon French has moved his family to New Baltimore, where the rent is cheaper.

Mr. P. Meyers took Mrs. P. Tenney Gatton and Mrs. Harry Brown to Jackson where the latter were the guests of the Knapp family. Mrs. Gatton went on to Marshall to see her son Ivan and wife, also the new granddaughter born October 7th. We hope the little lady will possess some of her famous grandfather's artistic talent.

Mrs. Minnie Belcke has returned to Detroit after a four months' visit in Peoria, Ill.

Seven new members at the D. A. D. is the latest record.

A big crowd was at St. John's to see Rev. Mr. Kent Sunday, and was very disappointed the reverend gentleman was unable to be present. Rev. Smielau gave an interesting talk. In the evening he talked or lectured on Current Topics at the Frat Club, to a good-sized crowd.

Detroit's are sorry the Chicago correspondent is quitting the job. Here's hoping he comes back.

The Detroit Association of the Deaf celebrated its eleventh birthday anniversary on the fifteenth, with a big crowd present. Short speeches were made by present and past officers. Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable time was had by all.

Maurice Osnick and L. Bertzon, of Milwaukee, are here looking for work.

We regret to say quite a few of our friends are ill. Mrs. Ben Dahl, at Harper Hospital, is improving slowly. Mrs. John Ulrich, acute appendix at Deaconess Hospital.

John Deatsman is in Harper Hospital.

Mrs. M. Rheiner is having trouble with one of her eyes.

OMAHA.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo R. Holway were host and hostess to the Midwest Chapter at their home, on Saturday evening, October 1st. It was cloudy and rainy, but that did not keep the members at home. According to a new rule passed at this meeting, members in arrears for one year forfeit their membership unless they pay their dues at the following September meeting. Mrs. Blankenship's motion to suspend the rules to admit Mr. and Mrs. F. Arthur Clayton to the chapter failed to carry. Mrs. Clayton was Cecilia Birk and attended Gallaudet College one year. The rule is that one must pass examination to enter the Sophomore class at Gallaudet before he or she can be admitted to the chapter. Eight tables were played at Bridge that evening. Mrs. Emma Seeley and John J. Marty won the prize for the highest scores. The consolations went to Miss Grace Evans and Anton J. Netusil.

We are sorry to hear that J. Frederick Meagher is through with the Chicago column of the JOURNAL. He is a brilliant and original writer and we hope that when he "finds another sit," his breezy effusions will still be available to the deaf. Here's our hand, Jim, and just keep on writing funny like "that funny fellow, Crutch."

Dr. and Mrs. J. Schuyler Long are sporting a brand new Nash coupe with blue-gray finish, which they traded for their old Dodge coupe. Dr. Long seems to be getting expert in exchanging old cars for new.

Mrs. John J. Marty and son, John, Jr., have returned from a visit with her folks at Clarion, Ia.

Glenn Hawkins, who it was rumored had quit his position at the Nebraska School, is back as supervisor of the older boys and Mrs. Hawkins is there to assist him. They are both nicely fixed with their baby, Elbert. During the summer Mr. Hawkins studied again at the Teachers College at Pittsburg, Kansas, and received twenty more points to his credit.

Many here who know Miss Evelyn Jung, will be surprised to learn of her recent marriage to a Mr. Emory Gerichs, of Chicago, Ill., at the home of her parents in Rockford, Ill. For a long time she worked in the printing establishment of Fred Ward at Fort Dodge, Ia. Mr. and Mrs. Gerichs are at home to their friends at 1702 North La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill. She has the best wishes of her Nebraska and Iowa friends.

Adolph N. Struck was in town for a few days on his way to Chicago. He attended the Frat meeting, visited his first wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Redman, and spent a couple of days near Shenandoah, Ia., on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Fred O'Donnell, who have been taking care of his two children.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hanson, of Iowa, have moved to California, after staying here for several months.

The local Frats held their regular meeting Saturday night, October 8th, at Seymour Hall. It was initiation night and a great night. Nearly every member was present, making a splendid appearance. In the ante-room "Billy Goat" was kicking at the door impatiently, awaiting his chance to buck at the four novices, brothers John Burlew, Archie Babcock, J. Holland and J. Tubrick. He was well fed and was full of pep and vim and vigor. After the transaction of business, the novices were taken into another room. The "royal initiators" got ready—the lodge-room was suddenly darkened. There was a lot of noise and fireworks and the four novices started over the burning sands. Ask Brother Babcock what stubborn "Billy" did to him—if will tell you. Surely he had a narrow escape. Yes, it was a great night. Mr. and Mrs. John Chownis, who brought the novices in their car from Lincoln, visited old friends all day Saturday. Mr. Chownis, a social member, was present at the ceremonies. They all left early Sunday for Fremont, Nebraska, to attend some kind of a meeting of which John is treasurer.

And not for all the race."

AFTER much agitation the deaf-mutes of the Southland have decided upon a name for the proposed organization of the deaf of several of the Southern States. The report of the committee was published in a former number of the JOURNAL. Among the suggestions is that the name of the organization that is to represent the deaf of the South shall be "Dixie Association of the Deaf." As this was the decision of five of the most prominent deaf of the section of the United States which the putative association is to cover, it seems strange that a discordant note should come from North Carolina, from Thomas W. Hamrick. In a red-hot protest, he denounces the name given by the committee.

We have given his letter publicity in another column of this issue, but we warn others that the JOURNAL is not going to be a public forum for the eloquence of those who "kick" at the name chosen.

It is quite evident that there is lack of unanimity among the educated deaf, and that there is a rocky road ahead. If the deaf of the different states involved in the project do not cooperate, the success of the organization is doomed.

LAST WEEK the JOURNAL office had pleasure of a visit from Mr. James F. Donnelly, who edits the Catholic Deaf-Mute. Fifty-one years ago, when the printing department of the New York Institution (Fanwood) was started, James F. Donnelly was a pupil at the school and became an apprentice to the "art preservative." He remained till 1881, when he was graduated, and since which time he has made good in the world. The little boy who learned the rudiments of the printing trade in those far days over a half century ago, is today a brainy, active man, a forceful writer and a well-groomed and courteous gentleman.

DENISON GALLAUDET DIES

WAS SON OF COLLEGE FOUNDER;
LIVED IN JACKSON HEIGHTS

Denison Gallaudet, of 88 Twenty-seventh Street, Jackson Heights, Queens, whose father, Dr. Edward Miner Gallaudet, was a founder and many years president of Gallaudet College in Washington, died October 27th in Post-Graduate Hospital. His brother, the Rev. H. D. Gallaudet, of Waterbury, Ct.; his wife, a son and a daughter, Mrs. Nathan Potter, survive. Funeral services were held Monday in Hartford.

Mr. Gallaudet was born on April 1, 1870, and was graduated from Amherst College in 1893. For several years he was employed successively by the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Union Pacific Railroads, and later became connected with the Gallaudet Aircraft Corporation of Rhode Island. Recently he had been employed by the Nichols Copper Company, of Long Island City. His uncle, the Rev. Thomas Gallaudet, was rector of St. Ann's Episcopal Church for many years. —Herald-Tribune.

IN DIXIELAND.

This writer never could understand why it is that so many of our deaf leave the farms and flock to the cities, especially here in Georgia, where the chances of earning as good a living as he can on the farm is ten to one against him. Even if he does succeed in obtaining a job he very soon finds out that with the high costs of living in a city it is a never-ending struggle to keep the wolf from the door. We know of two parties who owned good farms, where they were making a comfortable living, to sell out and move to this city. Since then they have had a hard struggle to keep on their feet. Another one sold out a nice little home he owned in a near-by town for less than he paid for it, in order to move his family to the city, where they could enjoy the society of other deaf. This is all wrong. Those who are fortunate enough to own farms should stick to them. The following is an editorial taken from the Atlanta Constitution, which was written in reply to an inquiry from a man in another State, who wrote to ask about farming and climate conditions in this State. We reproduce it in part to show the deaf what the prospects for making a living on a farm in this State are. It follows:

"In north Georgia, the winters are cold but never severe; the summers are warm but never hot; the principal crops are wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley, Irish and sweet potatoes, alfalfa and clover, cotton, peaches, apples, strawberries; it is admirably adapted to live stock growing. This part of the state is surpassingly beautiful because of picturesque mountains and valleys. Peaches and apples, are extensively grown for commerce.

"Cotton, of course, is grown in all sections of Georgia, except north of the mountains. Few crops can be named that will not grow profitably in this section. It is a pasture land, therefore the center of the live stock industry. This is the center also of the Georgia peach and the Georgia yam and the Georgia watermelon. It abounds in large and small streams.

"South Georgia is the section of Georgia where 'December is as May.' In this section one may work afield in his shirt sleeves practically every month in the year. Tobacco is one of the leading money crops, though live stock and truck growing is rapidly advancing.

"Cotton, of course, is grown in all sections of Georgia, except north of the mountains.

"Southwest Georgia is the 'pecan belt.' The weather all the year is as ideal as in south Georgia. Every crop known to agriculture can be and is being grown profitably.

Mr. Sidney Weaver, of Akron, Ohio, formerly of Georgia, was married on October 11th to Miss Adelaide Powell, of Dillard, Ga., at the home of the bride. The newly married couple stopped over in Atlanta for several days on their way to their future home in the Ohio city. They were tendered a wedding reception on the 19th by Mrs. Gwen Dean, a schoolmate of the bride. We understand that the Atlanta deaf in general are arranging to give the newlyweds a public reception and farewell party at the Chamber of Commerce, previous to their departure from Atlanta on the 22d.

Rev. S. M. Freeman was operated on at St. Joseph's hospital in Atlanta on October 18th. Mr. Freeman was taken ill aboard a train about two weeks ago while returning home from Ohio, where he had gone to spend his vacation. He was removed from the train at Knoxville, Tenn., and taken to a hospital in that city, where he remained for several days. When it was seen that an operation was necessary, his daughter, Mrs. Simmons had him brought home to Atlanta and taken to St. Joseph's, where he would be amid home surroundings, and under the care of his physician. While his condition has been extremely serious owing to his advanced age, the doctors report, at this writing, that his condition is encouraging and that he is doing as well as could be expected. Mr. Freeman's health has not been good since last winter, when he suffered with a severe attack of flu, and it was mainly in search of health that he took a three months' vacation in Ohio and Indiana. During his absence the deaf of Atlanta have been left without a pastor, and no religious service has been held here in some time. The many friends of Rev. Mr. Freeman are praying most earnestly for his speedy recovery.

Mr. W. W. McLean, who left Atlanta several weeks ago to accept a position as foreman of the repair department of a large garage in his home town, Andalusia, Ala., surprised his friends by his return on the 19th. He came down for the purpose of closing out his home here and taking his wife back to Alabama with him. They left on October 21st for their future home in Andalusia. We will all miss 'William,' but the best wishes of everyone goes with him and Mrs. McLean to their new home.

Mrs. L. B. Dickerson, who has been a patient at the Wesley Memorial hospital for several weeks, where she underwent an operation for goiter, has recovered sufficiently to be taken home.

Leonard McLean, who was laid off from work, along with several others at the C. C. Freeman Garage, finding it impossible to secure work elsewhere in the city at present, left Atlanta a week or so ago and went to his old home in Andalusia, Ala.

He has since obtained a good job at Florala, Ala., and will work this winter, or until work picks up in the Freeman shops.

News is scarce in this town. So many of our deaf are out of work and others are leaving for other places in search of jobs. Also there is an unusual amount of sickness among our people, and from one cause or another nothing seems to be moving much here at present. The only thing in a social way that we know of, will be a Hallowe'en party on October 29, under auspices of the local Frat division. The Nadfrat Women's club will give a party on Thanksgiving, if no more sickness among members occur. Here's hoping there won't.

The Columbus Ladies' Aid Society met October 20th, with the largest attendance in its history. Plans for the coming Hallowe'en Social were discussed and duties assigned the members. The spirit of generosity seemed to be prevalent and the society decided to furnish a large modern sink for the kitchen at the Home, as the present one, after thirty year's usage, is in bad shape. They voted to purchase some electrical helps for the kitchen also. This will be a great help in the preparation of meals and the canning. By spring the refurbishing of two of their bedrooms will be started. All these improvements mean the spending of large sums of money, but the society will see its plans carried out. The managers of the Home are also contemplating many improvements in the near future.

The many friends of Mrs. Hazel Fischer Cobb, of Akron, were sorry to learn of her death last week at Spring Lake Sanitarium, where she had been for the last ten months. Her health had been poor for several years. She leaves her husband, Crystal Cobb, and a young daughter. The funeral was conducted by a hearing minister and interment was at Barberton. Mrs. Cobb was a graduate of the Ohio School and spent one year at Gallaudet College. She was a bright, attractive lady, and loved by all who knew her. Her husband has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

These beautiful October days are luring folks out to the country. Last Saturday, the senior class at the school, accompanied by Messrs. Zorn, La Fountain and Wright and Miss Sayer, enjoyed a weiner roast in the lovely woods belonging to the Ohio Home. A delightful time was had over the fire and later in playing games. Toasting marshmallows was much fun too. Before night fall all were back at the school, tired but refreshed from the bracing country air.

Saturday found Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ohlemacher and son motoring down into Vinton and Jackson Counties, to renew acquaintances with relatives and enjoy the lovely woodland scenery, bright in the autumn colors. About five O. W. L. S. flew over to Grove City, and found refuge in the MacGregor home Saturday afternoon, and screamed to their hearts' content, with Miss Bessie MacGregor as hostess. Later they were served an elegant meal with Miss Jean MacGregor as chef. Not belonging to that feathered tribe, we know not the business transacted nor the menu served, but we were told that both business and menu were fine.

Sunday morning, when Mrs. Zell went downstairs to start breakfast she found that their house had been entered during the night or early morning. Investigation showed that a window screen had been slashed so that the lock could be reached and entrance made. The result is that Mr. Ernest Zell is minus two hats. The burglar must have heard footsteps upstairs and left while the leaving was good. There was money downstairs, but the burglar was frightened before finding that. To our recollection, this is the second call the Zell have had from burglars.

Friday, the Michigan School, football team comes to the Ohio School, and Saturday the two teams will meet on the school grounds to prove which is the stronger team. So far, the Ohio boys have not been very successful.

Mr. and Mrs. David William, of Akron, came to Columbus to witness the football game in the Ohio stadium two weeks ago and saw the O. S. U. team go down in defeat. They remained over Sunday and called on friends.

Mr. Rion Hoel, of Oakley, a suburb of Cincinnati, celebrated his natal day with a party September 10th. His wife had made big preparations, but when the date came it was too warm for games and the friends spent their time in recalling days of long ago.

Mrs. Hannah R. Woolley, of Cincinnati, reports the death of her nephew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woolley. He was at his work dynamiting holes for telephone poles.

He had a battery under his arm and a wire for the dynamite in his hand. When the dynamite let go, the wire he was holding flew up into the air and came in contact with a high tension wire, thus causing a shock strong enough to kill him. He was an only son and was well spoken of by all who knew him.

Last summer, Mr. John Hahn found he had reached his 66th milestone, and so decided to celebrate with a party. Mr. Hahn has the distinction of having worked in the Standard Marble Works in Cincinnati as a bed rubber for forty-seven years. Some record surely. He is still enjoying good health. He is now busy on marble work for the Cincinnati Enquirer building.

At this writing, we are glad to be able to say that Mrs. George Clum's condition has improved, and her many friends are hoping that she can soon be able to receive visitors.

As we read last week's JOURNAL we wondered if the office had run out the letter Z, as in one article we wrote every name beginning with a Z was omitted—but we know accidents will happen.

And here is recorded the strongest accident on record:

LEGS BROKEN TWICE.

For the second time within two months Mary Valentine, fifteen-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Valentine, colored deaf, 1221 West Mulberry Street, was returned to the City Hospital today with a broken leg. This time it is her left one. Before it was the right one.

Both legs were broken in identically the same manner. Like all babies, Mary learned to crawl, and when gliding over the floor her parents rocked on her legs, breaking them.

The parents could not hear the child's screams, and it is said they continued to rock until the bones were snapped.—Cincinnati Enquirer, Oct. 1.

Late on Friday evening, the 28th of October, the football team from Gallaudet College arrived here at 11 o'clock. They came all the way from Washington, D. C., to New York City in a large motorbus. In the morning they were shown around the buildings of the institution. In the afternoon they played football against the City College of New York. Many graduates and pupils of Fanwood witnessed the game. Many Gallaudet graduates also were present. The team representing the College of the 'City' New York won by the score of 58 to 0.

Wilhelmina B. Jackson, a colored graduate of the Fanwood School last year, died a few weeks ago, of pneumonia. She leaves a mother and father to mourn her loss.

Rochester News.

At the time of the Fraternal Convention of the deaf in Denver, Colorado, Messrs. Clayton McLaughlin and Claude Samuelson, both delegates, and Fred Shannisey were the only Rochesterians that attended the convention. Returning home they spoke of their wonderful times in Denver, Colorado. Claude had his first trip west and has been telling how he had been enamored of Colorado's climate and beautiful in nature, and now he would like to make his home in Colorado one of these days.

Several picnics that the deaf of the western part of New York had during the summer took place as follows:—Owas Lake, Auburn, Coms Lake, Lancaster; Shattuck's Home, Cohocton, Albion, N. Y., La Salle, N. Y., Sodas Point and Corbett Glen. Every one of the picnics was largely attended and was very successful in different ranges.

Last August, the twenty second, Miss Eleanor Kelly, a young and pretty girl of Webster passed away at the General Hospital, Rochester. Acute kidney trouble of a few days caused her death. Only a few weeks before she appeared at several picnics in so a healthy condition that her friends never expected her death so soon. She was laid away to rest very quietly, without any one knowing she had passed away, until a few days later when her mother sent an announcement of Eleanor's death. Her parents have many of her friends' sympathy.

September the third marked a very pretty home wedding of Claude Samuelson and Helen Fay. The wedding took place at Mr. and Mrs. Ira Todd's suburb home on Clover Road, with an attendance of over seventy-five friends. Misses Gertrude Hermance, Helen's girlhood chum, and Agnes Palmgren were her bridesmaids, while Floyd de Witt was Claude's best man. They were showered with beautiful and useful gifts. After the wedding, they went directly to their new temporary home, on W. Main Street. Now they are finally happily settled in their small cozy apartment on Hamilton Street.

Messrs. Claude and Lawrence Samuelson were shocked with grief when they were notified that their brother-in-law, Mr. Ransseum, the State Trooper, was killed by a Mr. Wagner on September 8th. Mr. Ransseum with another State Trooper were guarding the fugitive's house, when Mr. Wagner, being enraged because of not seeing any way of escape, shot and killed both State Troopers and escaped. After a few days of freedom, Mr. Wagner was finally nabbed by some Troopers in Pennsylvania.

The scribe had a month's vacation at home in Denver, Colorado, from thence he had returned on October 3d. He is having a guest in person of Mr. Anton Axman, of Devil's Lake, N. D. The scribe met Anton in Denver and the latter decided to come to Rochester to visit. Should he find a position in Rochester, Anton will stay in town all winter, returning to Colorado next June.

Last August the Rochesterians had, with much pleasure, visitors from Philadelphia, Pa. They were Messdames Nancy Moore and Mabel Wilson. They stopped at Rochester enroute to their home in Toronto.

Messrs. Parkinson, of Fairport, and Aloysius Pulver, of Rochester, were taken in sorrow by their loved ones' deaths. The Parkinson baby did not live after its birth some time ago. Mrs. Pulver's mother, who had been ill for a very long time, passed away very peacefully a fortnight ago. Our sympathy goes to you both in the dark hours of sorrow.

Miss Doris Myers, of Niagara Falls, a graduate of University of Rochester, is teaching at the Western Pennsylvania Institute at Edgewood Park, Pa. Miss Jessie Ramsey, also a graduate of University of Rochester, is at the Minnesota school supervising little girls.

Mrs. Florence Mortimer's father, Mr. Hill, has sold his beautiful home on Algonquin Terrace. Mrs. Mortimer and his son, Billy, have taken an apartment on Arnett Boulevard and are very happily and cozily settled.

Messrs. Ira Todd, A. North, H. Whyland, Floyd de Witt and Messdames Todd, North and Whyland, motored to Toronto to attend a vaudeville show staged by Mrs. Nancy Moore at the Parish House in that city. They reported that the evening at the Parish House was one of their most pleasant evenings for a long time recently.

Mr. Wm. Davidson, of Auburn, N. Y., spent the week-end of October the fifteenth with his pal at the latter's home in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, of Cortland, who had been visiting with the latter's folks on Caroline Street, left for their home last Sunday.

A church social under the direction of Mrs. C. Peterson was held at the Parish House of St. Luke's last night (October 18th) and it was fairly attended. Rev. Merrill was present at the social, coming directly from Syracuse.

Ralph Gerow was the best man at his brother, Fred's, wedding, that took place in a local church, Rochester, Saturday afternoon, October 15th.

The Rochester Frats had a social known as "Lindbergh Social" at Highland Hall on Gregory Street, Saturday night, October 15th, and it was rather a small one. Mr. Harold Lockwood was the chairman of the social and those attending it had a very enjoyable evening.

Arnold Slater spent the week-end of October 15th visiting with his pal in Geneva. Mr. and Mrs. Moore spent the same in Walker with their daughter. Miss Eleanor Atwater, of Lockport, was the guest of Misses Shattuck and Greif in the meantime.

Mr. Keck, who had been in General Hospital, laid up with a broken leg, is back at his home now. He was run down by a passing automobile as he stepped off from a trolley car. He is nicely healed up now, after a long stay at the hospital.

Mr. Hanks, formerly of Buffalo and now of this city, and Miss Trench were united into matrimony some time last month. They are staying in town for the present. Congratulations!

Mr. Claude Samuelson made a flying trip home to see his folks in Gerry, N. Y., last week. He found them all well.

WEDDING BELLS

On the evening of October 23d, at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Lena Stoloff was married to Mr. Joseph Peters, by Rev. Barnett Elzas.

The bride's dress was of white satin trimmed with lace and pearls. She wore a bridal veil. She carried a large bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Mary Hornstein, who made the bridal dress, was maid of honor. Mr. Lawrence Weinberg was best man. The wedding was private, account of the bride's mother's ill health. Only families of the couple were invited.

After the wedding supper, the couple left for a honeymoon in Atlantic City. They will make their home in Inwood.

On Saturday evening, October 15th, Miss Lena Stoloff was given a "Surprise Miscellaneous Shower" by her sisters, Mrs. Jennie Wolf and Mrs. Fannie Gish, in their apartments.

The surprise was a success, when Fannie told Lena that Jennie who had been in trouble, crying in her apartment, needed her help.

Lena went upstairs and found her friends instead. She wept with joy. She got heaps of presents—dishes glass, linen, lamp, hamper, silk, pyrex and these are handy for the future home. Delicious supper was served. Those present were Messdames Lovitch, Kurz, Fisher, Kaminsky, Buttenheim, Eber, Belle Peters, Kane, Golden, Ahern, Schutz, Annie Plapinger, Greenberg, Sturtz, Lowenherz, Kenner, L. Weinberg, Schwarz, Garson, Krienke, R. Cohen, Schulman, G. Solomon, R. Grossman and Misses Mary Hornstein, Rose Loebel, M. Rubin, Annie Jacobs, Mary Muir, Bessie Abramowitz and Julia Solomon.

WHY THIS PREJUDICE?

We who live in the South are surprised at the action of the committee for giving out an announcement that the new organization has been given this name, "Dixie Association of the Deaf." We don't like the new name at all. The name we want is "Southern Association of the Deaf," and we mean business. That name which we want should be accepted. We are loyal to our section which is the South, and we want to be known as Southerners, and want to be described so. Southerners who live in the South are proud of their native Southland, and they are not ashamed of that. Why must the committee choose to be prejudiced against this word, "Southerner?" This word has been our pride, and should be given a place in our association. It is a very beautiful word, and has no room for prejudice. It does not mean sectionalism, or offense at all. It is the most proper name for our new association. We would do anything to make use of it.

An Atlanta writer strongly advises against using the words, "Southerner," or "Dixie," as they are apt, she said, to give offense. We fail to agree with her. We assure her that it will not give offense and never will. She comes out with the suggestion that the new association be named, "Southern Deaf Co-Operative Union," or "Co-Operative Union of the Deaf." Either name is too long and complicated. In spelling either one, tongues and fingers would suffer when trying to strain and twist. Give us a name that is easy on the tongue and fingers. Why not the "Southern Association of the Deaf?" It is so easy, so simple! It has been the original name for the association for several years, having its origin in Atlanta, and a topic of conversation all over the South. We fail to see why the committee is prejudiced against "Southerner," and would like to know why they chose a substitute. The new name, "Dixie Association of the Deaf," does not seem to appeal to us at all, but we are not in any manner prejudiced. There are Southerners who have never heard of "Dixie," its meaning and origin. "Dixie" is not a bad name, but is not a proper name for the new association. Leave out the "Dixie" and put in the "Southerner."

"Dixie" is a name largely associated with singers, negro minstrels, and people who are sentimentalists. It stirs emotions in the hearts of native Southerners living thousands of miles away from home. It thrills the lonely, the sick, and the gay. There are several Southern songs called "Dixie," but our new association does not propose to be a song factory, and named after a song! It sickens and disgusts us. Let the new association be "Southern Association of the Deaf," instead of "Dixie Association of the Deaf." Shall we have one way? The committee should not ignore us. We are asking them to reconsider their action, and take back the original name, "Southern Association of the Deaf." This name alone will suit us and no else will.

The Capital City.

The "Lit" was held at Masonic Temple on the night of Wednesday, October 19th, with Wallace Edgington presiding.

John T. Flood gave an interesting story about his trip in his auto to the West last August with Mrs. Flood and Mrs. H. S. Edgington. Monologue—"Twin Bed Time Story," was delivered by Gerald Ferguson. Declamation—"Maud Muller," by Miss Ruth Leitch.

Program for November 16th meeting will include a lecture by Miss Peet. A telegram from Detroit advised that our friend, John Ulrich, passed away October 23d, at noon. He was a good man and was one of the worthy workers for the betterment of the deaf in Detroit. Through our worthy JOURNAL we send our sincere sympathy to his wife.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bryant entertained the members of the Baptist Mission and their friends to a Hallowe'en luncheon at an opening social of the season on the night of October 25th. It was wonderful evening and was enjoyed by all. The program was short and snappy— anecdotes of Beecher. It was certainly interesting. Immediately after the program they went downstairs to their places around three long tables consisting of pumpkin pie, doughnuts and coffee. The tables were decorated in yellow and black. Rev. Mr. H. Lorraine Tracy and wife enjoyed the occasion.

A friend in Washington informed the writer that James Nielsen, of Wisconsin, who has been deaf for thirty-seven years has regained his voice after four airplane rides. He can now talk and his voice is gaining volume every day.

Gallaudet was swamped by Temple College, Saturday afternoon, October 22d, at Temple Field, 62 to 0. More than 7000 witnessed the contest, including rooters from Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Roy Stewart, who spent two months in Nebraska visiting her relatives, returned last September in time for the opening of Kendall School.

Holy communion will be given at St. Mark's Church, corner A and Third Streets, S. E., Sunday afternoon, November 6th, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Georgie Decker Coleman, who has been spending the summer with friends in Dunkirk, N. Y., reached home in Washington, D. C., sometime ago, before Kendall School reopened. She was accompanied by her daughter, Grace.

The Division, No. 46, N. F. S. D., will have a Fall feast at Masonic Temple, Saturday evening, November 12th, after which a program and dancing will be enjoyed. Everybody is cordially invited.

DEAF, DUMB, ILLITERATE MAN IS AUTO DRIVER.

RUTLAND, Vt., Oct. 20—How to get testimony from Leonard Warner, deaf, dumb, illiterate and unable to read lips or understand finger language, was a problem which court officials faced today. Municipal Judge Kinney ordered Warner to prepare to defend himself on a charge of careless driving as a result of an automobile accident in which he figured yesterday. Investigation disclosed that Warner has had an operator's license ten years. He is the only witness for the defense since, except for the driver of the other car, no one saw the smash-up.—Washington Post, October 19th.

Arthur Council, deaf, forty, of 5527 Kansas Avenue, N. W., fought for his life in Casualty hospital for ten days as a result of an automobile wreck near Waldorf, Md., Sunday evening, October 16th, when the car he was riding turned over in a ditch, after being crowded off the road by an unidentified reckless driver, without lights. Mr. Council suffered a fractured skull. He received his education from the North Carolina State School for the Deaf. His wife (Miss Cooke) is a sister of Mrs. Wilbur Souder.

Rev. Mr. J. W. Michaels, Baptist Evangelist, has cancelled his appearance for October 30th at the Baptist Mission.

Rev. Mr. H. L. Tracy's sermon on "Changing the Mind" some Sundays ago is worth mentioning. I would like to tell the JOURNAL readers what the Reverend said. It was: "Don't be afraid to change your minds. We should not hang stubbornly to consistency; we should not fear the charge of fickleness. For it is inevitable that the viewpoint should shift with experience and development of the mind. Let us act singly, don't let us be afraid of changing our minds."

Miss Jennie Jones is well again and will return to her old place at the Government office in three weeks.

Don't forget St. Barnabas' business meeting, November 9th, at the hall of St. Mark's Church at A and 3rd, Southeast. All members are asked to attend.

XAVIER EPIPHETA SOCIETY NOTES

With the October attendance a forerunner, the meeting of the X. E.S. on November 6th, should show an upward trend in attendance. After service in the chapel, at which Father Egan spoke on "October-Rosary Month," members assembled in the beautifully fitted reception hall or council chamber adjoining. During the summer, Rev. Father Clark had personally directed its renovation.

High lights of the session were reports of recent social events, Chairman Kieckers turning over net profits of more than half a hundred dollars from each.

President Fives presided with his usual equanimity. It was sensed the influx of new members to the roster had something to do with the infectious smile of the chief.

Preparations for celebrating the silver jubilee anniversary of the X. E. S. were detailed. The Cafe Boulevard, east of Broadway at 41 Street, will accommodate a banquet and reception.

Old-time Ephphetas, present-day Ephphetas, friends and well-wishers, one one and all, are cordially welcome, announce the committee.

The Cafe Boulevard chef has designated a limit to the number of covers—100. The early birds on the reservation list will have first choice. Tardy applicants may have to meet disappointment, for lack of accommodations. The price per cover is two dollars. November 27th is the date of the function, and chairman Fives aides on the committee: Julius Kieckers, Mrs. Chris. McNally, John F. O'Brien, Miss Mary Austr, James F. Lonergan, Andrew Mattes, Joseph "Lord" Edwin. Reservations may be made through any of the above.

As an aftermath of the Waterloo at the Lewisohn Stadium last Saturday, the Misses Sophie N. Boatwright and Alice M. Studt celebrated Hallowe'en at their apartment on Elwood Street by entertaining a company of friends at a Masquerade party, which was full of real fun and diversity of enjoyment.

The rooms were attractively decorated, orange and black predominating in the color scheme; fierce black cats glared from very direction; fantastic yellow lanterns bearing quaint inscriptions, furnished the illumination, and other weird ornaments peculiar to Hallowe'en made a pretty as well as striking effect.

Many games, old and new, were tried out on the unsuspecting guests, one of the most amusing as well as difficult was following the black (or yellow) line to your fortune, which for variety and deviousness made the Times Square shuttle puzzle seem like child's play.

In a spelling bee, Charles R. Dobbins, B.A., Gallaudet '21, of Trenton, gave a practical demonstration of the value of a college education by capturing first prize with a total of 21. Ben Baca, George Graff and Harry Pierce Kane were tied for second place with 20 each.

To cap the climax, the enterprising hostesses, the Misses Studt and Boatwright, served a most appetizing collation, a la buffet, showing themselves to be adepts in the entertainment line.

Among those present and the costumes worn were:

Miss Studt, Spanish Senorita; Miss Boatwright, Pierrotte; Mrs. Samuel Kohn, Sunflower; Miss Mabelle McIntire, Gypsy; Mrs. H. P. Kane, Pajamas Girl; Mrs. Julius Seandel, Witch; Mrs. Agnes Brown, Pirate; Mr. Dobbins, Felix; Mr. Seandel, Faust; Mr. Kane, Marceline; Mr. Sussman, Skeleton; Mr. Hersch, "Just a kid."

Others present but not in mask, were Mr. and Mrs. Keith W. Morris, Mrs. Katherine Menken, Ben Baca, LeRoy Ridings and George Groff. In the spelling bee, Mrs. Samuel Kohn carried off first prize for ladies.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Nies were hosts to the Metropolitan Chapter of the Gallaudet College Alumni Association on the evening of October 23d, at their home in Riverdale. Business as well as pleasure, sped the evening along.

The following elections were ratified:—President, Dr. Thomas F. Fox; Vice-President, Dr. Edwin Nies; Secretary, Mrs. Guilbert C. Braddock; Treasurer, Miss Margaret Jackson. Dr. Fox's holding the Chapter's presidency is especially opportune, as this year is the twenty-fifth in the history of the Chapter, and to him, more than to any one else, belongs the honor of having established this branch of the Alumni Association twenty-five years ago. A celebration worthy of this twenty-fifth anniversary is under consideration.

Seligman Gerson spent the summer months as usual, at Rockaway Park. His apartments are now located opposite the Academic Building of the New York Institution, on 163d Street.

BRONX FRATS.

The Bronx Division of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, on Saturday evening, October 29th, 1927, held its annual Hallowe'en Party at the D. S. Turn Hall, 412 East 158th Street, the Bronx.

The hall on this occasion was decorated to conform to the custom of the event, with lanterns and black and yellow festoons, and suspended from the ceiling were several balloons, which were later used to conclude the games the committee had mapped out.

On entering the hall, apples and toy balloons were given to all, and in addition, the ladies were also given fancy paper caps.

Hyman Rubin was chairman of the committee and L. Edwards the Treasurer, but the committee in charge of the games were Messrs. J. Collins, Matt Blake and Lamponi.

Following are the names of the winners of the various games. The ladies were given a sealed box containing some useful gift and the men one dollar as their prize.

The apple race was won by Miss McCarthy and Mr. A. Dantano.

The Ring Game by Miss Sadie Schatton and Mr. Orugo.

The Potato Race by Miss Faulkner.

The Apple Eating Contest by Howard Bromkoff.

The balloon game was won by Edward Malloy.

There was also another special prize, which was contested all evening, a handsome chair, designed by the chairman, Hyman Rubin. This was won by John Curley. Two cash prizes also went in this contest, and were won by Alfred Gallinri and J. Munroe.

As usual, President Ed. Bonvillian and Mrs. Bronvillian were here, there and everywhere greeting the guests with a pleasant smile.

The Ex-Presidents were there too: Joe Graham, Jack Ebin and Fred C. Berger.

It was a fine party, and greatly enjoyed, especially by the young ones, of whom there were many, and the Bronx Frats may well feel satisfied in having brought joy to their silent friends.

A big surprise Miscellaneous Shower was given to Miss Rose Wax on Sunday, October 9th, by a friend, Miss Anne Jacobs, and was held at Miss Jacobs' home in Bensonhurst.

Rose was detained at her brother's home, discussing plans of the coming wedding. Then Rose and her fiancé left to pay a visit to Miss A. Jacobs.

Arriving about 6 p.m., she found her friends in the parlor waiting to surprise her. The astonishing surprise she got was that her family were there. She was with them two hours before. She received many useful and handsome presents. Delicious sandwiches, salad, home-made cakes, ice-cream and candies were served.

Those answering the roll call were: Mesdames Ciavolino, Schawartz, Garson, Seandel, Rosenberg, Sylvester, Abramowitz, A. Solomon, Krieger, Kenner and Misses Anne Jacobs, Sarah Jacobs, Anne Hoffman, Katie Ross, Judy Solomon, Mary Hornstein, Bertha Kranzer and Zelda Bornstein, and the family and Rose Wax.

Those who came later were:—Mr. A. Hynes, Mr. Leo Frey, Mr. David Wax, Mr. Sol Garson, Mr. M. Rosenberg, Mr. Sylvester, Mr. N. Schwartz and Mr. J. Abramowitz.

Mrs. Sarah Begy, the beloved mother of Robert Begy passed away on Friday, October 28th, 1927.

On Saturday, October 22d, Julius Lipkin and Max Wissotsky autoted to Hartford, Ct., where they attended a social party given by the Hartford Division, No. 37, N. F. S. D.

The next day, Sunday, the 23d, they visited the American School for the Deaf, at West Hartford, Ct., and were shown about the buildings by Mr. Walter C. Rockwell, the Athletic Manager of the boys of that school. They enjoyed the trip very much. They left Hartford at 7 p.m. Sunday, and got back to the Bronx before midnight.

Capt. I. Lounsbury, 71st Regt. N.G.N.Y., who was recently married to Miss Mabel Screvani, after a few days at Atlantic City, sailed on the S.S. DeGrasse for France, and after looking over the battlefields he knows so well, having served many months abroad, he will take his bride to a trip over the British Isles and they will return on the Transylvania. Capt. Lounsbury's mother, Mrs. Margaret B. Lounsbury, has taken up her home in a small apartment at 2314 Clark Street, Astoria, and her boys, both married now, will each have their homes in the same neighborhood with their mother.

There was a Hallowe'en party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Dundon, at Belmar, N. J., on Saturday evening, October 29th. Many of them wore masks, and all had a merry time.

Mrs. Weaver (nee Hannah Wilson), beloved wife, of Mr. Frank Weaver, died on October 15th, last. Her funeral took place on the 20th, with Solemn Requiem Mass in Ascension Church at 10 A.M. Father McCabe, Chaplain of the Catholic Mission for the Deaf preached a very touching sermon about the good Catholic life she had led. Numerous deaf friends viewed the remains on the previous night and attended the funeral in the morning. Among the floral tributes was a beautiful one from St. Stephen's Catholic Mission, of which the deceased had been a member. She was so well liked by all who knew her that her loss is greatly felt, especially by the members of St. Stephen's Mission. Besides the husband, two daughters and one son survive the mother. The JOURNAL correspondent tenders sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

All Souls' people took time by the forelock and held its annual Hallowe'en festival in advance of the proper day—that is, on Saturday evening, October the 29th. Between 175 and 200 deaf people, including a sprinkling of hearing friends of the deaf, attended the event and enjoyed a frolicsome evening. The greatest disappointment felt was that the number of persons who came in fancy or droll costumes was not as large as on some former occasions. However there were enough costumes to give the event its customary significance. Several prizes of money were awarded to those whose costumes seemed to merit them by a committee of judges. If anything was missing at this festival it was the luscious apple, that usually plays so prominent a part in the games at Hallowe'en festival; but then this is an off year, in which the apple crop is not so plentiful and prices are above the normal. So sandwiches and coffee were substituted to gratify the inner-man, and the result was that the evening was not as dry as it might otherwise have been. This event was in charge of and for the benefit of the Pastoral Aid Society.

Mrs. M. Haight spent about two weeks in Philadelphia, as the guest of Mrs. M. J. Syle. She left for New York in time to meet her daughter from Paris. By the way, Mrs. Haight is holding on remarkably well for one of her age.

Miss Estella Caldwell, a student of Gallaudet College, was a visitor in Philadelphia from last Thursday, 27th to the end of October. She stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Wm L. Salter in Wissinoming.

Miss Gertrude M. Downey, one of our best known deaf persons, has deemed it advisable to attend a hospital clinic for treatment this week. Her case is one that needs to be diagnosed. While her friends feel some concern, it is hoped that nothing serious will develop.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mc Intyre, of Wildwood, N. J., came up last Saturday for a brief visit to their home city. They formerly lived here, as their parents still do. They were seen at All Souls' Hallowe'en festival.

Mrs. Ward and her daughter came over from New York to see Mr. Ward on Sunday, 30th of October. They found him getting along finely under treatment here, and he himself expresses the belief that he will return to normal by next January at the earliest. Mrs. Ward was at All Souls' today.

A post card received from Mrs. R. N. Stevenson, of Brooklyn, N. T. locates her at present at the Minnesota School for the Deaf, where she is visiting her son, Supt. Elwood Stevenson. Mrs. Stevenson was a former resident here and was married here, and thus she naturally thinks of her friends in the Quaker City.

Miss Estelle Caldwell, a welcome visitor here, gracefully signed the Recessional at the service in All Souls' Church for the Deaf today (October 30th).

Rev. W. M. Smaltz is to lead the current events talk before the Clerc Literary Association on Thursday evening, November 3d.

The Cheltenham Branch of the Needlework Guild of America has donated many new and useful articles of wear to the Home for the Aged and Infirm Deaf at Torresdale, during the past two years, and thus deserves grateful appreciation.

This branch happens to be under the direction of Mrs. Chandler Paul and Mrs. John Machon, who have first-hand information of this worthy charity, and moreover, have visited the Home. Mrs. Paul, it may be added, is the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Paul, two of the oldest and most respectable deaf persons hereabouts.

Report says that the rummage sale recently held in the central part of the city for the benefit of the Home at Torresdale was the means of obtaining a tidy sum.

We shall be glad to receive information of news that will be worth publishing at all times. Our address will be found at the head of this column.

Gallaudet College

Some thirty men, players and rooters, forsook the Green for Philadelphia Friday night, October 21st, for the Temple game. Kendall Green was even more deserted when some 44 girls traipsed off to the woods somewhere in Virginia, on an overnight hike. They went to Vacation Lodge, Cherrydale, as leaving the Green at half past one Friday, and came back Saturday morning, footsore and pestered with wood-ticks. Otherwise, they report they had a "perfectly gorgeous time."

College Hall is now regarding Landry, '28, with eyes colored a deep green, for it was his luck to be the only male present at a birthday party the saner portion of the Fowler Hall ensemble who elected to remain behind Saturday night. Ten or fifteen girls and one cherry, moon-faced fellow. Let all of you get the wrong impression, it must be said that he was only the photographer called in to perpetuate that party in pictures. From what we managed to draw from Landry, the party had Ruth Fish's birthday as an excuse. Since it was a Pirate Party, the girls turned out in Pirate regalia and did their best to look fierce and bloodthirsty. It might be conjectured that a good many curtains were commandeered. Another feature was the Spider's Web, which was a huge tangle of strings or ribbon, each of the ends of which were tied to some prize or other, and the other ends were given to the girls. They had to follow their strings up through the tangle and ultimately reach their prizes. The rest may only be imagined.

GALLAUDET IS DOWNED AGAIN

More than 7,000 watched Temple University run up a 62-0 score over the Gallaudet gridders. The superior weight and size told in the end, as the first quarter was manifested by Gallaudet's, although the Buff and Blue eleven failed to score. A fast running attack bewildered Temple and Gallaudet excelled the home team in every respect, until the latter finally got the ball into their possession in the waning minutes of the first period. It was only then that they managed to score their first touchdown. After that, the Temple huskies got down to business and steadily rolled up score after score.

Bill Grinnell, former P. I. D. star, picked up a fumble early in the fourth period and sprinted 90 yards to a touchdown which was, however, declared null and void by the referees on account of offsidess. Time after time the Gallaudetians marched down the field, only to be balked by a tightening of Temple's defense.

Temple	Pos.	Gallaudet
Marcus	L. E.	Marklin
Ahrin	L. T.	Cummings
Patchofsky	L. G.	Johnson
Capello	C.	Ridings
McCuskey	R. G.	Reins
Buchanan	R. T.	Cain
Bonner	R. E.	Monaghan
Gugle	Q. B.	Hokanson
Hanson	R. H.	Miller
Wearshing	L. H.	Dyer
Jacobs	F. B.	Crawford

First period—Buchanan kicked off for Temple to Cain, who returned the ball to the 30-yard line. A five yard penalty and five more by Hokanson gave Gallaudet a first down. Touchdowns—Shutty, 1; Wearshing, 2; Marcus, 1; Hanson, 3; Jacobs, 1; Rubican, 2. Points after touchdowns—Buchanan, Mulloy, 1.

(Second Lettge)

"Well begun is a task half done" may very well be applied to the past week, for it opened with a Sunday evening talk by Dr. Charles R. Ely, who chose as his subject, "To Achieve—to Bring X to a Successful Conclusion."

After relating several anecdotes which had some bearing upon his subject, Dr. Ely supplied the X in the equation, so as to have it read thus: "To Achieve—to Bring "Something Difficult" to a Successful Conclusion."

Where there are no difficulties, said Dr. Ely, there can be no achievement, as the case of a football player who was here in Gallaudet some time ago. He was an excellent line plunger but had an uncontrollable temper. Whenever he was stopped by the second stringers, he would suddenly see red and give the second team a few nasty socks in the general region of the eye. The second stringers got together and agreed to let him go by whenever he had the ball in his possession. With insolent deference, they stood aside and let him race down the field for innumerable touchdowns, much to the amusement of the spectators. The captain of the first team gave him a curtain lecture afterwards, making it painfully clear to him that being downed by the opponents was as much of a part of the game as reeling off yardage for touchdowns. That fellow rarely lost his temper after that, not only on the gridiron but also off the white-ribbed field.

Immediately after Chapel, Friday morning, the football squad left in a De-Luxe bus for New York where they were to play the College of the City of New York. Half the College Hall population turned out to bid the gridiron warriors a fond and hopeful farewell. Darting hither and thither like a whirling dervish, Manager Peikoff transacted his last-minute task. Luckily for him, the bus could not leave without him, he being the manager, or the team would have been minus his leadership and his shepherd's crook. Allah is just in all things. Amid a frenzy of hand-waving and last-minute messages to be conveyed to friends in Gotham, the bus lumbered out through the main gate and was lost to sight. The student body settled down to classes and were extremely thankful if they reached their classrooms on time.

Friday night, despite the suspicious-looking fish served at supper, was far from being devoid of pleasure and entertainment. There were women and song, but the wine was, of course, in those Volsteadian days absent. The Literary Society staged an interesting program in Chapel Hall, Friday night, October 28th. The main feature was a lecture, "Insect Enemies," by Dr. Charles R. Ely, who invested zoology with a glamor of romance hitherto unassociated with such supposedly "dry as dust" subjects. As Mr. Flood, the critic, declared, Dr. Ely's lecture went over all right, since the optience—to keep in use a word recently coined by Mr. J. H. McFarlane, '67—gave him its undivided attention.

A shiver went up the spines of not a few when Dr. Ely told of the great lengths a scientist went to in his investigations, which resulted in the discovery of the hot-fly. Some way or other, the bot-fly succeeded in getting one of its eggs under that scientist's skin. Since the larva causes great pain as it eats its way out, one would ordinarily call in a medico for relief, but that scientist was determined to find out just what caused so much agony among the cattle, horses and sheep, as well as among the "howling monkeys." Enduring the agony as only a scientist imbued with the love of discovery can, he waited almost a month until the larva finally emerged from its hiding place under the skin and took the form of a fully grown bot-fly. Thus was one of the most troublesome pests of insectdom discovered and duly labeled, and precautions were immediately taken to ward off the bot-fly from live-stock. The rest of the program was as follows:

Debate—"Resolved, that a three years' course for the B. A. degree should be adopted by colleges and universities."

Affirmative—James Royster, '31, and John Berning, P. C.

Negative—Kaple Greenberg, '31, and John O'Brien, P. C.

The Negative Side carried off the laurels.

Dialogue—"The Night Before." Messrs. Hiken, '29, and Dobson, '31.

Declamation—"The Spider and the Fly." Mr. Anthony Dondiego, '30.

Critic—Mr. James Theodore Flood, '28.

By the way, don't you notice that the smaller a fellow is, the longer his name is?

After the Literary Society Meeting, collapsible card-tables were rigged up and Chapel Hall resounded to the flip-flop of cards, punctuated here and there with outraged "Oh, why did you have to trump my ace?" Those not interested in the mysteries of card-playing catered to the dancing Muse, Terpsichore, enshrined in the Men's Refectory. A portable victrola provided the latest tunes and the students "shook a laig" all right.

With the team playing away from home, Kendall Green (which includes Fowler Hall and College Hall and the Social Committee) was at a loss for something to do on Saturday night, October 29th. Jimmie Flood came to the rescue of the dismayed Gallaudetians with a brilliant idea. He suggested a theatre party. Not once has the correspondent seen a suggestion accepted so avidly as Flood's. The Social Committee ratified his suggestion, but not before the girls augmented Flood's suggestion with another—that it be a Dutch treat. And it came to pass that parties of several couples each, duly chaperoned, were formed. They scattered to the winds, so to speak, but no sooner than the four-faced clock on yon ivy-mantled tower reeled off eleven strokes, all the coeds who could stand the strain of a Dutch treat were back in Fowler Hall, none the worse for their thrilling experience. The College Hall men are unanimous in that it was one of the best times they ever had.

For the past three years, there has been no Rat Funeral for the simple reason: practically no bubonic plague carriers are to be found in Fowler. Nevertheless, a nice-sized rat, recently deceased, was found the other day, with the result that the ancient tradition of Rat Funerals was revived. At 1:15 p.m., sharp, the Fowler Hall girls, together with a number of faculty members, assembled in the Girls' Gymnasium. The Preparatory girls were garbed in sombre black, out of deference to their deceased sister. Miss Martino, the Bishop, was clothed in a de black gown reaching clear down to the floor and a mortarboard on her curls, and a towel with a red border was tied around her neck. After the service, which was comprised of much wailing and assistance from the Coadjutor, Miss Ross, and from one of the hymn singers, all the girls filed past the departed and took their seats again.

Four heartbroken pallbearers lifted their poor little sister, who lay in state in a travelling bag, beautifully decorated with crape and flowers, and, with the Bishop and Coadjutor leading, flowed out of the gymnasium. The rest of the blackgarbed Preps followed in twos, crying with the aid of onions secreted in their handkerchiefs. Three hymn singers or "plooms" followed on the heels of the pall bearers, calling upon the Powers to give their poor little sister solace and a comfortable home in her afterlife. The sombre procession wended its way towards the woods behind the farmhouse, where they buried the dead rat amid much wailing and pomp. Blessed be the spirit of that poor little rodent, whose sole failing was that of feasting upon cheese and whatever tidbits could be found in the rooms of the girls.

C. C. N. Y. WINS

Meeting for the third time in succession, a team far out of its class, the Gallaudet eleven took the short end of a 58 to 0 score, when they invaded the field of the College of the City of New York, Saturday October 29th.

The home team took full advantage of Gallaudet's weakest point—the end positions—and advanced time and again on forward passes. Barkman and Bienstock, C. C. N. Y.'s brilliant backfield men, threw long, short and medium passes to every part of the field, most of which were, sad to say, successful. However, Monaghan, the slim Gallaudet left end, intercepted several neat throws. Marshall, fullback, and Dyer, halfback, shone brightest in Gallaudet's repertoire, and did most of the ball carrying. Marshall took care of the punting end.

After the game, the players were royally entertained by the alumni and the Alpha Chapter of the Kappa Gamma Fraternity. One and all, the players report a most enjoyable stay in New York. Gallaudet college wishes to express its appreciation of the hospitality of the deaf of New York City.

Face To Face

Can a deaf and dumb man in Tampa talk to another deaf-mute in New York over the telephone?

It is a foolish question today, but it may be possible within a few years. There have been greater wonders. April 7 became a memorable date in scientific history, when the "talking and seeing" telephone was put into operation between New York and Washington. Television became a reality, as an adjunct of the telephone. It has been less than a lifetime since the invention of the telephone was greeted with skepticism. Last Thursday people talked to others in a different city and saw how the others looked.

A little more improvement, and perhaps a New York man can see a Tampan talking on his fingers. Each man being in his home town.

PITTSBURGH.

We were treated to an entertainment of exceptional merit Saturday evening October 22d, at McGeagh hall by Livingstone McNamina, the deaf "Houdini" and his friend Charles Beaner, a hearing man of New Brighton, whose sleight of hand was marvelous. The former, who is also a resident of New Brighton, had performed for our delectation once before and that was about twenty years ago when he was in his prime. He then married and wisely or unwisely chose some other occupation rather than magic performances to settle down on. Although he has since been out of practice he showed us that he still can do enough mysterious tricks to make an enjoyable evening for a gathering of the deaf.

One of the interesting stunts was getting out of a mail bag in which he, handcuffed behind, was locked. In his "Trip to Spookville" Mr. William M. Stewart and he had their legs shackled to a chair and arms chained behind. They were lifted behind a screen. When the screen was removed the scene showed McNamina in the same position but Stewart dressed up spooklike holding a milk bottle in his mouth. All the tricks were beyond us, the only enlightenment we could get was the statement from Mr. McNamina that he was visited by a spirit when out of our view.

Mr. Beaner's sleight of hand was an added attraction. If it had been advertised it is believed a capacity house would have been the result.

McNamina happened to think of him a few days before the entertainment and Mr. Beaner generously obliged. The attendance of about seventy, was satisfactory. Those who failed to attend certainly missed a treat.

The event was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Margaret's Mission, with Mrs. W. J. Gibson as chairman. A social followed the performances and before the crowd dispersed at a late hour eats were served. Fifty dollars was raked in.

Have you ever seen any one's photo reproduced in the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL? If not you can go over your pile as far back as twenty years ago and see McNamina's picture.

Mrs. Margaret Lockwood formerly of this city but now of St. Louis, is here for an indefinite visit with her mother.

William F. Becker has been out of work for three months now on account of a carpenters' strike.

Newcomers were added to the families of Doyle Fry and Peter Graves, to the former a boy born October 18th, and to the latter also a boy, who made his advent the next day. Congratulations!

Leo Zelinski, who was at Gallaudet for a short time a few years ago, is the latest to be admitted to Division, No. 36, N. F. S. D.

O. Gangisch and Helen Premheis were joined in wedlock September 10th. Both are graduates of the Catholic School for the Deaf at Brookline. They have gone to house-keeping on the north side.

Joseph Jebovich's mother returned recently from Europe where she spent three months in Austria and Germany visiting the scenes of her childhood days.

The new Pittsburgh Silent Club, founded by Peter Graves a few months ago, is growing fast, showing a membership of over eighty now. The hall at 104 Federal Street has been fixed up in a club shape, with only a bookstand yet to be purchased. Mr. James J. Flannery, a prominent undertaker who is solidly behind the club, donated 25 folding chairs October 19th marked the opening of the club, with speeches by Dr. Ide Kinney, George Cowman, President Peter Graves, Sam Rogalsky, Sam Nicholas, Harry Zahn and F. M. Holliday. Mr. Flannery was booked as the chief speaker but detained by an important case. He, however sent word that he was with the club in spirit and that he hoped it would have an auspicious start. The future of the club seems assured as it is composed largely of the younger element.

The Pittsburgh Silent Basket Ball Club has been reorganized with Sam Rogalsky as manager. William Stewart made a trip to Baltimore on his motorcycle to get in the centennial celebration of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, held recently.

Dr. Rogers, Superintendent of the Kentucky Institution, gets six months leave of absence November 1st, on which date he will turn over the management of this school to Mr. M. J. Lee, who has been appointed Superintendent while Dr. Rogers is away. Dr. and Mrs. Rogers will leave about the 8th for Florida, where they will spend the winter.
